

A series of horizontal lines for writing, starting from the right side of the baby's head and extending across the page.